MEDIA RELEASE

Standing Committee on Industry, Innovation, Science and Resources

Issue date: 13 February 2019

Committee boldly goes where no committee has gone before

The Industry, Innovation, Science and Resources Committee will host a discussion involving several prominent organisations in the emerging Australian space industry, including the newly established Australian Space Agency.

The discussion will be held in a roundtable format featuring a number of industry participants, including Lockheed Martin, the world's largest Defence contractor, and Airbus Australia.

Members of the public are welcome to attend or listen in as the hearing will be broadcast live. If you wish to attend, please RSVP to the Standing Committee on Industry, Innovation, Science and Resources, at ijsr.reps@aph.gov.au

Other participants include the Department of Defence, Myriota and Professor Russell Boyce, Chair of Space Engineering at the University of New South Wales, Canberra.

Public briefing details: 10:30am to 12:30pm, Wednesday, 20 February 2019, Committee Room 1R3, Parliament House, Canberra.

The hearing will be broadcast live at aph.gov.au/live
