We want Far North Queenslanders to keep more of their hard-earned money.

I am proud to be part of a government that will provide tax relief of up to $530 per year for more than 75,862 people living in Cairns and Far North Queensland.

Compare that to Labor who want to slug you with higher taxes and charges.

Speaker	Robert, Stuart, MP	Question No.

Mr ROBERT (Fadden) (13:55): What a fabulous budget we heard last night! The Turnbull government is getting on with the job of helping hardworking Australians, families and senior citizens. We're making sure that Australians keep more of their hard-earned money in their pocket. We're lifting tax brackets to ensure that wages aren't eaten up by higher taxes because people choose to work overtime or simply get a pay rise. In my electorate on the northern Gold Coast, an incredible 73,000 taxpayers will be better off next financial year. That is seven out of every 10 adults working in my electorate. I can't emphasise that enough. Over 70 per cent of the hardworking people in my community will have more money in their hip pocket to take home to their families because of this government and the budget they heard last night.

And it's not just tax relief. We're also implementing the National Energy Guarantee to ensure that Australian families and businesses can have affordable and more reliable electricity. We're making child care more affordable and accessible to those parents who want to work. We're backing enterprise through small- and medium-business tax relief. There are 21,480 small local businesses in my community that employ and pay their staff. They'll now have more money to spend and invest in their community. We're protecting peoples' superannuation by stripping away excess fees. We're tackling the black market economy. This is a real and sensible budget for my community on the Gold Coast.

Speaker Andrews, Kevin, MP	Question No.

Mr ANDREWS (Menzies) (13:55): This week's budget contains much good news for many of my constituents in Menzies. Up to 60,000 taxpayers in Menzies will benefit from the low- and middle-income tax relief in this upcoming 2018-19 financial year. Some 4,000 families will benefit from the new childcare system in operation from 2 July. Victorian public hospitals will receive a 30 per cent increase in funding. The 14,000 new aged-care places will assist many older people, including people in my electorate of Menzies and my neighbouring electorates of Chisholm and Deakin as well, to stay in their own homes. An estimated 1,600 people with disabilities and their families in Menzies will benefit from the guaranteed funding for the NDIS. And, of course, a preschool funding boost will ensure that almost 2,000 children in Menzies can access 15 hours of quality early learning in the year before school. But, in addition to that, my constituents and those in surrounding areas who are suffering from congestion on the roads, particularly in the north-east parts of Melbourne, will benefit from the ultimate building of two major pieces of infrastructure—the East West Link, which the money remains there to build, and the North East Link to ease those choke points across the Yarra River between my electorate and suburbs to the north.

Budget benefits for Moore

IAN GOODENOUGH MP THURSDAY, MAY 10, 2018

This week, the Treasurer delivered the Coalition Government's 2018/19 Budget, which will continue to build a stronger economy through:

- Tax relief to encourage and reward working Australians;
- Backing business to invest and create more jobs;
- Guaranteeing the essential services Australians rely on;
- Keeping Australians safe; and
- Ensuring the Government continues to live within its means.

I am pleased to have advocated for, and now secured in this Budget, funding to assist individuals, families and businesses across Moore.

HEALTH

$158 million for further expansion to Joondalup Health Campus, including 90 new public beds, 75 new mental health beds and an urgent care clinic. This investment will ensure our local hospital can further develop its capacity to care for more complex patients closer to home.

ROADS

$108 million has been secured to extend the Mitchell Freeway north from Hester Avenue to Romeo Road; creating jobs and helping to reduce the travel time for many of our northern suburbs commuters.

TAX RELIEF

A highlight of this budget is the tax relief that it provides to middle and low-income earners. In our electorate of Moore, over 65,000 workers earning between $48,000 and $90,000 annually will receive up to $530 back in their pocket.

Rick Wilson, Liberal member for O'Connor, 10 May 2018

SPEECH

Speaker Wilson, Rick, MP	Question No.

Mr RICK WILSON (O'Connor) (13:43): I want to update the House on what the government's budget means for the hardworking Australians in my electorate of O'Connor. The 61,173 people in O'Connor will see tax relief in the next 12 months. That's an enormous number, and it's made up of low- and middle-income earners: nurses, teachers, tradesmen and the workers who serve our community. For a family with two working adults on average income, that's an additional $1,060 per annum.

My electorate covers a third of the state of Western Australia, and we've got a huge road network. That network needs to be maintained and upgraded, and that's why this government has created a $3.5 billion fund to upgrade roads of strategic importance.

Back in O'Connor, it's not always easy for students to access university. Our students often need to move to the city, and that's why we're going to improve independent youth allowance to support them. We're investing $50 million to increase the income threshold for families, currently $160,000, by a further $10,000 for every additional child. In simple terms, more regional kids will receive financial support from this government when they enrol in university.

We're investing $200 million in a third round of the Building Better Regions Fund to develop regional communities. My electorate has already received $14.5 million through this program, and I'll be fighting to see that we continue to support these groundbreaking projects in O'Connor.

Michael Keenan, Liberal member for Stirling, 11 May 2018

Federal Member for Stirling Michael Keenan said the 2018-19 Federal Budget announced this week is delivering great results for Stirling residents.

"We are delivering tax relief of $530 per year for 86,000 low and middle income earners in Stirling to reduce cost pressure on household budgets," Mr Keenan said.

"We are investing in congestion busting infrastructure with the extension of Stephenson Ave and widening of the Mitchell Freeway from Cedric Street to Vincent Street.

"We are supporting 17,645 local small businesses in Stirling with tax relief and an extension of the instant asset write off which supported thousands of local businesses last year.

"We are supporting community groups and sporting clubs with funding opportunities that will benefit local projects.

"Under the Government's economic plan jobs are being created, investment is rising and the budget is strengthening. This means that we can continue to guarantee the essential services Australians rely on, whilst also responsibly returning the budget to balance."
