Subject: RE: One year bankruptcy

Dear [REDACTED],

The Attorney General's liaison officer has responded and has advised that the advice that you received remains current. They have added:

We remain committed to the progress of this Bill through the Parliament. Prior to the election the government was in consultation with stakeholders on potential amendments to the Bill. That process will continue following the re-election of the Government and the Bill will be re-introduced to the Parliament at the appropriate time.

I hope this assists you. Parliament is due to reconvene in early July.

Kind regards,

Nicole
