

Indigenous voice to parliament

● This article is more than 2 months old

Coalition demands government release Indigenous voice legal advice

Julian Leeser says Australians deserve to know what the solicitor general said about the power of the voice to advise executive government

Follow our Australia news live blog for the latest updates

Get our morning and afternoon news emails, free app or daily news podcast

Paul Karp Chief political correspondent

🐦 @Paul_Karp

Sun 12 Mar 2023 14.39 AEDT

Julian Leeser has demanded the release of legal advice about the Indigenous voice's power to advise the executive government, claiming Australians have a right to know if its top lawyer has "concerns".

The shadow attorney general wrote to his counterpart, Mark Dreyfus, on Friday. And he reiterated his demand for any advice by the solicitor general to be released in an interview on Sunday. The referendum working group has not yet made its final recommendation.

You need to register to keep reading

It's still free to read - this is not a paywall

We're committed to keeping our quality reporting open. By registering and providing us with insight into your preferences, you're helping us to engage with you more deeply, and that allows us to keep our journalism free for all. You'll always be able to control your own privacy settings.

Register for free

I'll do it later

Have a subscription? Made a contribution? Already registered?

Sign In

Why register & how does it help?

How will my information & data be used?

Get help with registering or signing in

Most viewed
