

Correction to Boomerang Alliance submission to the Product Stewardship Amendment Bill (Packaging) Inquiry

The submission incorrectly stated that APCO had resisted the introduction of a container deposit scheme. The submission should have referred to the National Packaging Covenant Industry Association, which existed under an earlier iteration of the Covenant. Neither that earlier iteration of the Covenant, nor the National Packaging Covenant Industry Association, still exist. We note that the current iteration of the Covenant, which commenced on 1 January 2017, provides that the Covenant is apolitical, and that APCO, which was established in 2016 to administer the updated Covenant, has never opposed the introduction of a Container Deposit Scheme.

Subject: Corrected submission to Product Stewardship Amendment Bill (Packaging) Inquiry

Hi Committee Secretary,

Please find attached a corrected version of our submission.

The submission incorrectly stated that APCO had resisted the introduction of a container deposit scheme. The submission now refers to the National Packaging Covenant Industry Association, which existed under an earlier iteration of the Covenant. Neither that earlier iteration of the Covenant, nor the National Packaging Covenant Industry Association, still exist. We note that the current iteration of the Covenant, which commenced on 1 January 2017, provides that the Covenant is apolitical, and that APCO, which was established in 2016 to administer the updated Covenant, has never opposed the introduction of a Container Deposit Scheme.
