

Educators that work in early years are desperately underpaid. I support the above initiative as any further recognition for these workers is vital to our children receiving the care they deserve.