Dear Sir/Madam

I live in Qld within 1km from a massive coal stockpile used as an Export Coal Loading Facility by New Hope Coal.

During my almost 4 year residence here I have conducted a study on:

- My health since moving here
- The unbelievable living conditions when living near coal
- The way in which all types of testing is conducted. eg
Coal testing,
Tank water testing, and
Noise testing is conducted

As my health declined I have tried many advised, and other methods of my own, to enable me to live a healthy dust free life.

I have had to admit that nothing anyone can do will prevent coal inhalation and ingestion from effecting my health and wellbeing. This saddens me greatly.

I believe I am not the only person suffering from the impact of coal however the Governments and the Mining Industries will not do anything about this problem.

I am passing on to you the information I have gathered into health and all coal testing. You may find this interesting as, if the testing is ever conducted properly I doubt there would be a mine open in this country. Of course mines that are 20kms from humans will probably not affect them at all.

I hope you can help me to change the laws that are so flexible and inadequate.

I believe that the whole system of mining should change, if not for the atmosphere then for the lives of all Australians.

I wonder how our great grandchildren will remember our generation when they are hungry and thirsty because we have destroyed our country.

Thank you for reading this

Kind regards
Glennis Hammond
