Sir, The fact that with a libre 2 sensor and a smart telephone I can get as many results as I want with no extra pin pricks means that I can get results from my phone straight away. That kind of result is invaluable in keeping my diabetes in check and in limits. The pin pricks are OK when you first start doing them but after a while they get to the point that you start to deliberately miss taking readings. Also there is a facility for getting a reading immediately your blood sugar reading goes high or low and your Phone sounds an alarm. I find that these are invaluable. It would be to the benefit of the pharmacy scheme also.

Yours
