

Dear Committee Members

How can anyone with any modicum of humanity let the export of animals to countries like Indonesia continue, without vigorously oversighting their welfare. As an ex public servant, I am very aware that Governments are quick to employ Task Forces to investigate issues at the drop of a hat. But they continue to ignore the plight of innocent animals. It is quite obvious that the Livestock Association is either incapable or could care less about the suffering endured - perhaps we should put them through the processes to which they subject these animals. The practice of exporting live animals has gone on for decades and needs to be stopped.

Yours sincerely

Vilia Marcelline
