

To all adoptees:

When you asked your own Mother how could you give me away?

.....Did you know your mother gave you the ultimate gift of love?

Your Mother believed, because she was falsely told, she would be denying you a happy life if she kept you.

Your Mother believed, because she was falsely told, she would be denying you a father if she kept you.

Your Mother believed, because she was falsely told, she was committing a terrible sin against you if she kept you.

Your Mother believed, because she was falsely told, she was an unfit mother if she kept you.

Your Mother believed, because she was falsely told, she was selfish if she kept you

Your Mother believed, because she was falsely told, she did not want the best for you if she kept you.

Your Mother believed, because she was falsely told, she would be hurting you and denying you a happy married family to live with, if she kept you.

Your Mother believed, because she was falsely told, if she kept you, you would be taken away by Social Security as your mother would not be able to look after you properly without money and support.

Your Mother believed, because she was falsely told, the only way she could prove her love for you, was to give you away.

As your Mother's greatest gift to you, she sacrificed herself so you could be happy with a family she thought could give you everything.

How can your Mother explain to you how greatly times have changed since you were born and explain to you what it was like to live in such stifling social times, when you have no experience or understanding of them?

How can your Mother explain today, the former powers of Church and State?

...and what did you do with this greatest gift of love, from your Mother?

Did you find her and scream at her how could you give me away? Why didn't you love me? Why did you give me away?

Instead....

You have should throw your arms around the most beautiful of Mothers and thanked her for the best and most wonderful gift a Mother could ever give to you, her baby.

Your Mother truly believed the lies she was told by Hospitals, the Church and her own Mother and Father. She was betrayed by them all.

And she is doubly betrayed if you believe your Mother didn't love and want you.

The trouble was...your Mother loved you too much.

Those who told your Mother those lies and who broke her heart, are being asked today to apologise for what they did to your Mother.

The Hospitals and the Churches who told lies to your Mother and who illegally kidnapped you, are being asked to apologise to your Mother, and to you, today.

If you are angry, your anger should be with these Institutions whose Policies and actions sanctioned a crime to be committed against your Mother and against you.

To the Mothers....

.....whose hearts are broken beyond repair.

You need to be told today - you did no wrong against your beautiful babies, your babies ripped from your womb, your babies taken away, the babies you never forgot, the babies you never, ever, stopped loving or wanting.
