MODERATOR

Georgina Dent

Georgina Dent is a journalist, former lawyer and a noted advocate for women's empowerment and gender equality. She is the editor of Women's Agenda, an online publication for career-minded women.

In 2005 Georgina graduated from the Queensland University of Technology with a double degree in business and law, with distinction. She was a joint recipient of the Thompson Media Law Prize in 2005.

At the completion of her tertiary studies Georgina joined Minter Ellison Lawyers in Sydney and was admitted as a solicitor in the Supreme Court of New South Wales in 2006. In 2008 she opted to tread a well-worn path from the law into journalism when she joined BRW magazine as a reporter. Whilst there she developed a keen interest in the subject of women and business, in particular, where were they all? It's a question she's been trying to answer ever since.

Having two children of her own proved to be illuminating in a practical sense around the barriers that can and do impede women's participation in the workforce. It has fuelled her determination to have Australia's problem with women and work recognised and addressed.

Given Georgina's position in agitating for change in this regard she joined Women's Agenda as the acting editor in July of 2013 and was appointed associate editor of the site in March 2014. Georgina was recognised for her advocacy around women in the inaugural Women's Empowerment Journalism Awards in Singapore earlier this year. She was a finalist in the journalist of the year category. http://www.wejournalismawards.com/?page_id=1373
