

At the hearing I mentioned an NDIS provider that included AIT which is explicitly listed as not recommended in Autism review commissioned by the NDIA. This is the website/information that I raised: <http://australianautismcentre.com.au/2017/07/07/australian-centre-for-autism-and-neurodevelopment/>

They state on this page, "AusCan is led by qualified professionals and is NDIS approved to provide a range of complementary services that address a child's brain development from the early stages of an autism or neurodevelopmental diagnosis."
