

These changes to the Youth allowance criteria are going to cripple middle income australia. I will have one son at TAFE and one at Uni next year. there is already a recognised high level of youth unemployment on the Central coast of Nsw coast. How the hell are they going do it all. How is Kevin going to clever up australia if he is going to penalise the people trying to do that anyway.