To whom it may concern

My name is Alice Arnold-Garvey and I live in Melbourne, Victoria. I am sending this email to raise serious qualms that I have about the government trying to change the EPBC act. I feel that the government should abide by the current laws and refrain from manipulating the legal system to suit their party's particular agenda (financial or not). Their behaviour not only disregards the significant value of our natural environment, but makes them appear as if they think they are above the law.

I feel that it is an attack on my and the public's rights to freedom of speech and I stand with those who feel the same way.

It doesn't matter where we live, we as Australians have a right to stand up against environmental vandalism in our country and to protect our land, our heritage and our future.

I'm disgusted that changing the law relating to this area is even being considered

Sincerely,
Alice Arnold-Garvey
