

Water is the most precious resource of all, without it, there is no life.. Life is only possible on earth, because of water, not because of Gas. In Australia, we already suffer droughts, seriously enough to warrant the construction of desalination plants.

Why would anyone with a sound mind approve projects detrimental to our most important resource?? Can we drink gas? can we drink money? I would urge anyone in charge to have a very close look at an industry which has the potential to destroy us all. The government should look beyond the bottom line of the budget, and protect the interest of every Australian and our water.

Kind regards
