

Hello,

Palm Oil, has become a more talked about issue than ever before. More people are becoming aware of how the use of this in so many foods and products effects animals such as the orang-utans and tigers. I believe we are responsible for looking after the planet that we live in. If we don't care for it properly now, what can we say our future will be like? We as a generation and nation have the opportunity to make a change, please help us by giving consumers the opportunity to make an informed decision when purchasing products. Myself as only one voice cannot do this on my own, let's be a leading nation in caring about all aspects of life.

Kind regards,
