

I would like to express my strong opposition to the Labor government's legislation that is intended to ban live sheep exports to overseas countries. This reprehensible action will have a very significant negative impact on West Australian farmers, their family business's, and all employees and business's connected to agriculture in Australia. The proposed ban will benefit no Australian. On behalf of farmers, the Australian economy, and as a concerned Australian citizen, I urge the Labor government to expunge this live sheep export ban legislation immediately.

Bill Rookyard