MEDIA RELEASE Senate Community Affairs References Committee

Senate inquiry into a possible cancer cluster on the Bellarine Peninsula Public Hearings

Issue date: 9 April 2020

Public hearing – 1 May 2020

As part of its inquiry into investigations into a possible cancer cluster on the Bellarine Peninsula in Victoria, the Senate Community Affairs References Committee will hold a public hearing via teleconference on 1 May 2020.

'Given the current situation with COVID-19, the committee has not scheduled any face-to-face public hearings for this inquiry in the coming months', said the Committee Chair, Senator Rachel Siewert. 'At its public hearing on 1 May 2020 the committee will hear evidence from health organisations and local and state governments via teleconference.'

Public hearing on the Bellarine Peninsula

'At a time when it is safe to do so, the committee will hold a public, face-to-face hearing on the Bellarine Peninsula. The focus of this second public hearing will be to receive evidence from individuals and community organisations', said Senator Siewert.

'Evidence from this second public hearing will be a vital part of the inquiry', Senator Siewert stated. 'The committee will not report to the Senate until it has held this second public hearing and considered the evidence received and for this reason, we have extended the reporting date for the inquiry to 26 November 2020'.

Media enquiries: Office of Senator Rachel Siewert, Committee Chair on (02) 6277 3587.
