

Has every drop of underground water been mapped properly?

Do we know how these bodies of water connect?

Until we do know this we cannot allow poison to be injected into one area in case it affects another.

Stop all CSG mining now until we are sure of all the implications - so that we maintain clean water supplies for future generations. That's the least we can do.

Kind regards

Clare Heaton