

Dear Sir

I was a student in hairdressing and applied two years back with 8 band score in IELTS. This bill will ruin my life to the extent words alone can never express. I have always trusted the system and regarded Australia as a humanitarian country. sir, you prefer employer sponsorship, state sponsorship above the IELTS score. Don't you feel we are more capable? And moreover sir, can you please consider that this will be the life and death situations for more than 50000 people you are dealing with. Have a heart sir. This is never expected from a country like Australia, as this decision will be totally unethical and inhuman. What wrong the genuine people like me have done. I even work on my own on my ABN to keep up with my skills in hairdressing. I do my work from home as I thought of starting a salon after my PR only. The clients I deal with are my references. Are you doing anything to protect the rights of the genuine applicants. Please Sir, do not let it turn into a historic moment to put the conditions on the applications already lodged, and ruin the reputation of this country. I can probably never apply again as I have already crossed 30 years of age waiting for my application to be processed.

All I can say is, I still believe, there is fairness in the system and I came to Australia in search of fairness. This is a moment of truth for me as I do not have any place to go now.

I hope you can understand, that being genuine in my approach and yet suffering, is not fair to me Sir.

Thanking You

Yours faithfully

Jadu Venkat
