

Please consider changes to the existing Bill. I feel you will be opening up the way for many vexatious claims.

The Australian way of speaking is at risk here and many things could be taken out of context and therefore give rise to these vexatious claims thus causing undue and unnecessary expense and stress to people when it was not intended.

The result could be decisions which do not reflect what was intended at all.

Sincerely,
Catherine Robertson.