

Good Morning

I write with regard to the upcoming Bill being overhauled, where a lot of nutter christians seem to be NOT minding their own business and trying to legislate against diversity.

I don't have time to address all the points of interest, but let me say as 41 year old woman in a same sex relationship with a new baby: repealing protection rights just because the nutter christians want it is not the right answer. Please follow your heart and not the money. Follow logic and reason. You (like me, are a public servant) work for all of us, not just the bible bashers.

If you always listen to the christian right, you'd have more guns, and backyard abortions, like some other country we are worried about right now. Family values are as diverse as all other aspects of life. Please just let us non christian tax payers live our productive healthy lives, and you can help us by continuing to protect our rights..

Thanks for taking the time to listen

best regards
