

To Whom It May Concern,

I wish to register my concern that this Draft Bill suggests that we have a law that is totally subjective. How can we possibly hope to enforce such a thing fairly? It makes no sense at all and takes away our rights to freedom of speech, religious freedom and other such things. It is outrageous and offensive to even consider this. The Honourable James Spigelman said it best here http://www.humanrights.gov.au/about/media/news/2012/132\_12.html I could not put it more eloquently so won't even try. I agree wholeheartedly with his comments.

We shouldn't have to make a law for everything – we need to be able to rely on each other to do the good and right things. Instead of making more laws, can we please focus on how we bring a sense of goodwill, nobility and honour back into our culture?

Yours sincerely,
Evelyn Castelletti.
