

Hi there

I have T2 Diabetes diagnosed in 1998 for the last 9 years I have been on insulin 4 times a day lately my levers have dropped to below 2.9 with no symptoms till it was dangerous low I believe if I have the sensor that I would be notified before it got to low and having the pump would also help me as being that I couldn't afford to pay for it as its 2 expensive to buy please consider it for all insulin t2 diabetes

Thank you
