Senate Community Affairs References Committee

Centrelink's automated debt-recovery system date for submissions extended

The Senate Community Affairs Committee has reopened the submission period for its inquiry into Centrelink's automated debt-recovery system.

Submissions should be received by 19 April 2017 and can be lodged online via the committee's website: www.aph.gov.au/senate\_ca

The committee is examining the design, scope, cost-benefit analysis, contracts awarded and implementation of the Better Management of the Social Welfare System initiative, and is particularly interested to hear from individuals who have experience of the automated debt-recovery system.

"The committee is extending the time available to people to make a written submission to the inquiry", said committee Chair, Senator Rachel Siewert "We are particularly interested to hear from individuals who have experience of the automated debt-recovery system", she said.

"If anyone would like to make a submission, but needs more time to write their submission or has questions about writing a submission, I encourage them to contact the committee's secretariat," Senator Siewert said.

You may find it helpful to read the guide to making a submission available on the Senate website: Preparing a submission to an inquiry

Further information about the inquiry, including published submissions and hearing programs, is also available on the committee website: www.aph.gov.au/senate\_ca.
