

Dear Senators,

I am an eighty year old grandmother and I am worried about the future for my grandchildren and their offspring. We are leaving them a country running out of natural resources, and being turned into a desert where life will not exist. All the science tells us that to continue using fossil fuels is self-destructive and not even financially viable. Short-term profit is not a good enough excuse for ruining the environment, spoiling and depleting precious water resources and continuing to put carbon into the atmosphere increasing global warming.

Please call a halt to all mining of fossil fuels, including CSG and coal.

sincerely

Patricia White
