

State governments can not be trusted with protecting the water. The corruption has become blatantly obvious. Community consultation, environmental and human health need to be the basis upon which these guidelines are written. The time has come to put economics in its rightful place which is dependent on the environment in which we live. If the water/environment is not first to be protected then time will mean short sighted ventures will eventually also bring down economics. Protection of people land sky and water first.

Kind regards
jasmine scheidler