The Public Works Committee is conducting an inquiry into proposed construction of the Sir John Monash Centre (SJMC) to be located behind the Australian National Memorial site in Villers-Bretonneux, France.

The Department of Veterans' Affairs told the Committee that the SJMC will comprise of an interpretive centre and gallery which will showcase Australian materials, craftsmanship, culture and technology. The project will include site infrastructure, landscaping and grounds maintenance and feature lighting for the Australian National Memorial.

The SJMC will use leading-edge integrated multimedia systems and interactive displays to provide an overview of, and context for, Australian operations during the First World War, creating a lasting legacy from the Anzac Centenary.

The SJMC will tell the story of the extraordinary efforts of the 290,000 Australians who served on the Western Front with such distinction. It will offer an evocative and educational experience for visitors of all nationalities and will honour Australian service and sacrifice in France and Belgium during the First World War.
