

Dear Senate,

I fully support the move by the Greens Party to insist upon the stunning of animals before slaughter.

This must be seen as the only ethical response to the brutalisation of cattle and other Australian animals on arrival at foreign abattoirs.

The Gillard government has allowed economic rationalism to overthrow any moral obligation to animal welfare and pressure must be maintained by the Greens.

I therefore support any moves to insist upon a further, full review, of the current legislation.

Yours sincerely,

Mrs Valerie Flynn. (member of Animals Asia and WSPA )
