

10th May 2010

To whom it may concern,

The Paid Parental Leave Bill discriminates against stay at home mothers by not including them in the scheme. Although they do not pay taxes, they contribute greatly to our country's economy, giving children a more balanced family life, and not being a burden on the economy with subsidised childcare. In fairness, all mothers should be beneficiaries of paid parental leave.

Edward Coonan.