Submission to Commonwealth procurement procedures - paper procurement inquiry

1st April 2016

Warrick Jordan

21 Gordon Avenue Hamilton NSW

To the Senate Standing Committees on Finance and Public Administration.

The Wilderness Society thanks the Committee for the opportunity to make a submission on this important issue. We apologise for the lateness of the submission.

1. Summary

In our view, the increased production of 100% recycled paper, including where it supports domestic regional employment, is an unambiguous societal good. In line with the view, 3718 supporters of the Wilderness Society have signed a petition encouraging the Government to re-instate the 2010 – 2015 ICT Sustainability Plan requirement that all Commonwealth offices to use 100% recycled paper (Appendix 1).

While the procurement policies of the Commonwealth only relate to a relatively small proportion of the paper market, policies that support recycled paper procurement have a critical role in supporting both environmental sustainability and regional industries.

Such policies provide a level of surety of demand that can help underpin viability, particularly in circumstances where competition, including dumping, comes from imports manufactured with much lower environmental and labour standards.

More significantly, such policies send a clear leadership signal to the marketplace about the value and importance of these products. An equally important signal is also sent to current and potential investors in the recycled paper sector.

Conversely, policies that fail to recognise and support the social and environmental value in recycled paper have the consequence of reducing confidence in the market and investment climate, with consequent impacts.

In practical terms, The Wilderness Society would strongly encourage the Commonwealth to undertake the following actions:

- Reinststate the ICT Sustainability Plan recycled paper procurement requirements, or an equivalent instrument.
 - Ensure that procurement plans and guidelines unambiguously require the use of recycled paper. Given the apparent contention over the mandatory nature of the recycled procurement requirements in the ICT Sustainability Plan, and the apparent limited use of recycled paper use across departments, removing ambiguity is important in effective implementation.
 - Ensure procurement policy consistency between responsible departments, particularly in regards to the intersection of sustainability and procurement policy.
 - Investigate and, in the absence of any legal impediments, implement recycled paper procurement policy that prefers locally manufactured products, to maximise socioeconomic benefits and avoid transport related carbon emissions.

2. Environmental Benefits

The environmental benefits of recycled paper are well known, with substantial research and a high level of public recognition. While these issues are substantially covered elsewhere¹, the key environmental benefits are:

- Life cycle analyses consistently demonstrate that the use of recycled paper feedstocks has substantial benefits in the reduction of inputs such as water, chemicals and energy. This reduces the environmental footprint of end products, including carbon emissions.
- Reductions in waste going to landfill, with benefit including reduced methane.
- Recycled paper reduces reliance on virgin fibre feedstocks whose extraction may have direct impacts on conservation values, where such values occur and are inadequately protected.

Villanueva, A., and Wenzel, H. (2007) Paper waste – Recycling, incineration or landfilling? A review of existing life cycle assessments, Waste Management 27:8, s29-s46

Denison, A.D. (1997) Life-Cycle Assessment for Paper Products, Chapter 7, in Wood in our Future, the Role of Life Cycle Analysis, National Academy Press.

3. Socioeconomic Benefits

In the Australian context, preferred procurement and the consequent support and development of the recycled paper industry has substantial social and economic benefits.

A 100% recycled paper procurement policy encourages market growth, and demonstrates Commonwealth support and confidence in recycled paper products. This in turn incentivises Australian business to make investment decisions to enable production.

There is demonstrated evidence and clear statements that the 2010 -2015 ICT Sustainability Policy provided Victorian-based Australian Paper with confidence to invest in new and enhanced recycled paper manufacturing capacity, diversifying their business and supporting employment in a regional community.

While the Wilderness Society's concerns regarding the conservation impacts of producing Australian Paper's native forest virgin fibre feedstock are a matter of public record, there is an undeniable logic that producing Australian made recycled paper products is a strong environmental and social positive.

The Australian Paper example demonstrates that a 100% recycled paper procurement policy explicitly enables the development of new regional business and jobs.

4. Conclusion

In most policy areas, if there are unambiguous and substantial societal benefits that are known to accrue from a policy decision that appears to carry little if any political, economic, or administrative cost, then that policy is likely to be enacted. In this instance, with such clear benefits and low cost, it is unclear as to why the Government has chosen to end the policy of requiring the use of 100% recycled paper in Government offices.

A continuation of the Government's current stance, where informal requests are made by the Environment Minister for increased recycled paper use, carries obvious risks. The Wilderness Society understands that, despite the Environment Minister's suggestion, many Government departments are currently using non recycled paper products. This has consequent environmental impacts.

In regards to incentivising additional investment and maintaining the viability of existing investment in recycled paper production, an informal request to use recycled paper is demonstrably not equivalent to a mandated policy.

There appears to be very little downside to the Government reinstating a clear and mandatory policy requiring the use of 100% recycled paper in Government offices. We thank the Committee for the opportunity to make a submission on this important matter, and we look forward to the results of your deliberations.

5. Appendix 1: Signatories (3718) to recent Wilderness Society petition regarding Commonwealth recycled paper procurement

Dear Prime Minister Turnbull,

Under the 2010-15 ICT Sustainability Plan, the use of 100% recycled paper by all Government offices was required by 30 July 2015.

We understand that this policy was abandoned by the Commonwealth Government under Prime Minister Abbott.

We are concerned that this is a serious backward step.

Using recycled paper makes good sense. Recycled paper helps prevent environmental damage to forests both in Australia and overseas, and supports sustainable jobs.

We respectfully ask that your Government reinstates the use of 100% recycled paper as a matter of environmental and economic leadership, and simple common sense.

Yours sincerely,
