

I expect the ABC to be a producer of innovative quality programming in all areas. I want:

1. the ABC to be less dependent on outsourced programming
2. the ABC to be funded and rebuilt so that it has strong specialist units to produce high levels of high quality and genuinely local in-house programming in all program genres on radio, TV and online
3. a public broadcaster that is focused on diversity and quality, not ratings.

Innovation is catering for the young at the expense of the older members of society.

Sophistry does not hide the fact that outsourcing, importing and dismantling is occurring.

The ABC belongs to all of us, not just the managers of today. Damage incurred now will be difficult if not impossible to correct in the future.

The ABC exists to support our culture and our democracy, it is a responsibility which should be taken very seriously.

All infrastructure in place today should remain.

Yours sincerely

Liz Aird
