

Respected Sir/Madam,

This is regarding that I read the news of new immigration rules that immigration going send back those applicant who already applied permanent residency. I am so stressed, I am here since three years doing struggle, first I came here in 2007 and start my study, I paid lot of money to my college and after 6 months my college closed down and I lost lot of money and time then I took admission in another college and paid thousands dollars again. After 2 years time I complete my study and lodge TR then PR and state sponsorship. Now It is almost three years time to doing struggle. but today I heard that we are also in trouble. which is unbelievable.

When I was in my country I heard too many good qualities about australia like we can make a good future in here, flexible government policies and good opportunities for bright future and then I decided to come australia study here and permanently settle here, I was doing job in bank in home country and my husband had good business there. but if we go back there we dont have any future there. I got married more than 4 years and i thought that after PR i will plan my baby, couldnt plan before because I had to go college and had to 20 hrs weekly job to complete my experience. I am still doing job in same field. To living here long time I found australian people are very co-opreative and friendly and we have lot of job opportunities in future.

I am so shocked today what to do next. This is humble request to australian government, Please do some thing in our favour. This is very hard time for us. we are waiting our PR. I am looking forward you for your favourable response.

Thanks & Regards
Kanchan Grewal
