

To whom it may concern,

Our children in regional and even worse inner regional have to put up with that many restrictions that eligibility for Youth Allowance becomes a farce.

The hours of work requirements are near impossible to while supposed getting educated.

The whole range of limitations to inner regional areas is endless. I have lived in the city and they have all the services, all of the time and the employment also.

Why are inner regional students being so disadvantaged.

My daughter has just finished year twelve and would like to undertake further education at university, at this stage we are unsure if this is affordable and therefore attainable.

Please assist my daughter to have the choices that other children elsewhere already have and expect.

Thank you
