

Submission re vaccine liability

21/8/23

To whom it may concern,

This is my submission regarding indemnity for the vaccine manufacturers. These manufacturers such as Pfizer have been making massive profits from government vaccination initiatives basically coercing people to vaccinate, and yet are immune to any of the risks. If a car-seat manufacturer or any other product manufacturer made faulty products resulting in a similar kind and scope of injuries caused by vaccines, they would be losing all their profits to liability suits.

In the past few years, the public have been basically coerced into having the covid vaccine at risk of losing our livelihoods, we were put at risk of becoming pariahs in society if we did not partake and were made a mockery of in the mainstream media for refusing, despite the vague and unclear disclosure of risk. For the Covid vaccines many of the package inserts and potential safety issues were not known as they were rushed through in record time.

Now, we are hearing the thousands of stories of people who suffered terrible side effects from these vaccines and cannot get the compensation they deserve. They have been ignored by the medical profession and the media. I have even heard stories of people who cannot access the government compensation scheme because their symptoms, known to be resulting from the covid vaccine, do not fit in the categories set out by the compensation scheme.

Vaccine manufacturers have for too long been getting away with literal murder, as faulty products do not result in any risk to their profits. The price of this injustice comes at the well being of the people receiving their products. Vaccines have been causing injuries to people for many years, culminating in the devastation the covid vaccines have caused. Our children are not permitted to attend daycare unless they are vaccinated, new parents are now encouraged to prevent relatives from visiting newborn babies unless they are vaccinated. Pregnant women are pressured into having certain vaccines. However, anyone who has suffered an injury as a result of these vaccines are vilified and silenced.

We only have to look at the long list of studies highlighting the increased adverse reaction rate of the covid vaccines to see that the evidence is now clear. <https://pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/36055877/> The manufacturers have been hiding behind the indemnity for too long now and it has brought them financial gains well in excess of what they deserve. It is well past the time to force those manufacturers to produce safer vaccines with increased honesty around the actual risks of these pharmaceutical products.

Presently, these vaccine manufacturers have zero incentive to produce anything but products that will bring about the highest possibility for profit for their share holders. It is time to bring them into some kind of situation where those designing the vaccines are held accountable if those vaccines injure and kill innocent people.

Penny Johnson
