Public hearing for inquiry into the proposed OneSKY Perth Air Traffic Services Centre modernisation works

The Public Works Committee is conducting a public hearing into the proposed refurbishment of the Perth Air Traffic Services Centre.

Airservices Australia seeks approval to carry out works to modernise the Perth Air Traffic Services Centre in preparation for the introduction of the new OneSKY system. Airservices' current air traffic management system has been operational since the late 1990s and is approaching end of life.

Airservices Australia and the Department of Defence have partnered to develop the OneSKY Australia Program which will deliver modernisation of air traffic management in Australia.

Under the OneSKY system, Australian airspace which is currently divided into two regions will become a single Flight Information Region. The single region will provide future air traffic control capability with flexibility and resilience.

To support the OneSKY system, proposed works by Airservices Australia include provision of a new plant room complete with required power and cooling infrastructure; upgrade and reconfiguration of the existing Perth Air Traffic Services Centre building and infrastructure; and upgrades to the existing site security systems.

The estimated cost of the project is $23.05 million (excluding GST).
