

To: Committee, JSCNA \(REPS\)

Committee Secretariat,

My personal view is Rio Tinto staff would have been well aware that they were blowing up the caves. Their earthworks levelled the surface right up to the cliff edge above the caves before drilling and explosives were planted.

Future remedy might well be to ensure it mandatory for all workers, staff, contractors to undergo an induction into the sacredness of aboriginal sites prior to employment at any site.

Trevor McGowan