

Iv been watching qt since for years now. I think its time to take condolence motions out of question time as they eat up to much time. I think they should be done at the end of the day or start early on days when they are on. Question time should be for questions.

also think there should be an official tally on the house website of member 94a or named. I keep an unofficial one but its hard to keep up to date. No its not the area u are looking into but hoping I could pass it on to the right people.
