Hi,

I am trying to get some information on all the major parties policy on forestry in Tasmania so I can make an informed choice at the upcoming election. Labour and Liberal policies seem to focus on the old way of thinking and I wanted to see if the Greens had anything more innovative to offer. I have had a look at your website but only found policy initiatives and not policy itself. A Google search came up with a document called more Jobs Less Logs - Forest transition strategy but it was from 2010. It certainly had some great ideas in it! Can you advise if this is still current?

Look forward to your reply.

Chris
