

Wind Farms enquiry

February 7 2011

Dear Madam/Sir

I am an investor in Hepburn Wind because I believe it makes a genuine contribution towards the move towards the production of non-polluting energy. Whatever your position on climate change, it must only be of community benefit to reduce our dependence on carbon emitting fossil fuels.

I have visited wind farms near Port Fairy in Victoria and a number in Western Australia. The cattle grazing at the base of the columns seemed completely unfazed by the experience, in fact, oblivious to what was happening around them. The noise was almost imperceptible and the appearance quite striking in a positive way. In Western Australia a wind farm situated on a gorse covered cliff overlooking a threatening ocean considerably added to the impact of the scene.

Yours etc

Ann Parris
