

I am against live export - we should be an example to other countries on our humanity and the way we treat our animals.
We are missing out again on a business for our workers and could use our facilities for export of packaged meat.

Carol Vincent