

The ability to express ourselves freely across a wide spectrum of mediums without interference from the government is one of the most important and fundamental freedoms in a democratic nation such as Australia.

I, for one, don't believe that we adequately protect this fundamental freedom right now. This proposal will resolve that issue. I therefore wholeheartedly support and endorse this effort to ensure that the right to freedom of expression or 'free speech' is protected under the constitution.