

Thanks for your Reply. I think we have To Side with New Zealand And Make Sure That This Live Export Trade Is Permanently Stopped Nothing will Do but a Complete and Permanent Ban..... We Should have done it Years Ago . .It is True that Imagining or Thinking that Countries Like Indonesia Will Change Their Methods or Thinking that One or Two Abattoirs Might Actually be Doing Things Correctly Is Definitely not The Answer. “ Offending” Countries that are inhumane towards Animals is Frankly Not something I worry about or....Whether People have got Freezers or not got Freezers is of No interest...Sometimes People have To Work I Know that is Hard...The Bottom Line is That Our Farmers Will Have To Be Propped up until we can Get The Frozen Meat Trade Going That Will Provide Jobs For Australians With All The Processing Of Cattle and Sheep Completely Done in Australia All Political Parties in Australia Should Stick together And Never Go Back To Live Animal Exports.
