Dear Committee Secretary, Senate Legal and Constitutional Committee,

I am writing to you concerning the Senate enquiry into Australia's BROKEN classification system.

In particular I hope the enquiry will focus on issues such as:

- The enforcement system (especially the release of the film "Salò" on DVD last year.)
- The effectiveness of the scheme in preventing the sexualization of children.
- The classification of and impact of R18+ and X18+ films.
- The possibility of including outdoor advertising (such as billboards) in the classification scheme.

The current system is not working & has not worked for years. Instead of preventing questionable material from getting classification members seem to be unable to say "NO" to be pressure from the media.

I have written about this problem over some years. The response has been "officialise" which says nothing and last year I was disappointed that the members of the committee failed to stand up & make a decision but put it off for this inquiry.

The delay has led to a toxic media culture which is having a devastating impact on vulnerable young people - and enormous frustration to parents who want safety for their children.

Young people as they grow are being bombarded with sexual messages via everything from billboards to music videos.

Oh, for a classification system with teeth and with people who will do the job they are employed to do!

I live in hope of better things this year. I will be watching.

Yours sincerely
