

To whom it may concern.

I, my family, my friends and my community do not wish to see or be advertised gambling of any sort.

We are from a variety of cultures, beliefs, ethnic backgrounds, lifestyles and employment industries - and none of us support it in any way.

I know of no one who believes the advertising or gambling in general, benefits society in any way. I do not wish my child and students to see or grow up in a world with gaming advertising or gaming in general. If people wish to gamble that is their wish, but it should not be advertised to anyone.

The cost of gaming and the gaming industry to society and society's health and progress is immense and well documented.

In my life I've not read one peer reviewed, news or opinion article which clearly and reasonably supports gambling and/or gambling advertising.

The influence the industry has on the parliament and its members is appalling and does not serve our people and country well.

Thank you for your time and consideration.
