

Submission to the Inquiry into the Status of the Human Right to Freedom of Religion or Belief

To whom it may concern,

Religious freedom is a human right, but so is equal protection under the law. The current anti-discrimination laws in Australia allow religious organisations to actively discriminate against the queer community (i.e. 1 in 10 Australians). This is not okay. Religious freedom should not impinge upon the rights of others in this way.

Sincerely,