

1

Newborough

29-4-10

Dear - Sir - Madam

As someone, who cares about families, am somewhat taken back "on the issue of The Great Childcare Gap: Forwards a unwaged mums with leaving children, or perhaps a single mother, are heavily penalised, On both Kevin Rudds plan, and even more so extravagantly on Tony's abbatts plan. Where is the "fairness". On The Waged mums income of Tony Abbott and Mr Rudds proposed giving. It leaves The Unwaged Mothers far and way behind, and is doing none any good

2 Favourites playing only makes a mockery of Justice
To give everyone a fair go Consider the Hardships of Single Parents, or Unwedged
Mothers wanting to care lovely for their children My final observation is simply, if giving to One Family, give to all Share and share alike or it becomes, a farce and complete travesty of Ill
Humoured fate

FROM
PETER
DUYNDAM

Yours Sincerely