Dear Sirs,

My story is that I was able to attend TAFE to obtain my private investigators license about 20 years ago.

My fees were supported or I would not have been able to afford them.

As a result of obtaining that PI license I was employed by the NSW (then) Department of Education and Training as a child protection investigator for the 14 years prior to my retirement.

The work I did was of immense value to the NSW community as a whole and to students in particular.

Surely that value of work should be retained and encouraged and not shut down.

I am happy to provide more details if required and am willing to appear in person to your panel to answer questions.

Sincerely
Judith Daley
