I'm writing this letter to you because there is no doubt that the Tafe system has a very important place in the education system.

Universities learning is not appropriate to all people. Tafe learning offers a more skills base style, less writing often. People with learning difficulties e.g. dyslexia need to have a variety of learning styles so they are more able to be successful in life. This is only one reason of many why Tafe should be supported and in fact improved

Yours faithfully
