BRUNSWICK HEADS

Mr. Bob Morris
 Inquiry Secretary
 Dear Sir,

I wish to lodge my objections to the ratification by Australia of the International Justice Treaty. We are an Independent Nation, and should maintain that status.

If Australia ratifies this treaty, then the present and future governments of Australia will be in breach of this treaty under International Law.

You see we have no legal governments in Australia under International Law and all laws have been unlawful since 1930

King George V of England on the 22ND June 1919 gave the then Australian government total sovereignty, it went through both Houses of Parliament on the 1-10-1919 and became law on the 10TH January 1920.

all law preceding this became null and void including our Constitution, as we have acted under British since that date we are in breach of International Law.

You see no member State can enforce or be party to the Enforcement of its law on a member state of the United Nations. That is International Law - I suggest that Australia refrain from putting itself in the hands of one World government (Briarion is evil.)

Yours faithfully
 Kevin W. Chapman
